Poetry.

Unseen.

At the spring of an arch in the great north tower,
High up on the wall, is an angel's head,
And beneath it is carved a lily flower,
With delicate wings at the side outspread.

They say that the sculptor wrought from the face
Of his youth's lost love, of his promised bride,
And when he had added the last sad grace
To the features, he dropped his chisel and died.

And the worshippers throng to the shrine below,
And the sightseers come with their curious eyes,
But deep in the shadow, where none may know
Its beauty, the gem of his carving lies.

Yet at early morn on a midsummer's day,
When the sun is far to the north, for the space
Of a few short minutes, there falls a ray
Through an amber pane on the angel's face.

It was wrought for the eye of God, and it seems
That He blesses the work of the dead man's hand
With a ray of the golden light that streams
On the lost that are found in the deathless land.

The United States Naval Academy. 4.

Next in order, proceeding east, is the

SEAMANSHIP BUILDING

(second only in size to the New Quarters,) containing apartments for manufacturing gas and generating steam for lighting and heating the central buildings of the grounds; also a kitchen, provision and store room, mess hall for midshipmen, remaining at the Academy during vacation, the dining hall of "bachelor" officers, and the

SEAMANSHIP ROOM.

This last named contains models of all the various wooden and iron vessels of our navy and many of other countries also working models of dry docks, navy yard sheers, launching ways, masting and heaving down vessels, carrying out anchors in boats, and of ships under all sail, showing the exact way in which every rope is rove; besides a thousand other things incident to the naval profession and essential to instruction in the department.

THE OLD RECITATION HALL

is a massive brick structure, in which are the officers of the board of examiners of applicants for admission into the marine corps and the Academy, superintendent of grounds, head of the department of ethics, and the officer in charge of lower buildings; also quite a number of recitation rooms.

Adjoining this are the quarters of the first class and of the cadet-engineers, a row of six three story buildings furnished in the same manner as the New Quarters referred to in my second article.

The seven buildings east of these, completing the northern range, are occupied by "bachelor" officers, and furnished as their tastes may suggest or their finances allow; for the government, taking a sensible view of the marriage question, refuses to make other provision than bare rooms for those who persist in remaining in a state of single blessedness (?)

a long wooden structure handsomly ornamented in its interior with swords, rifles, spears &c., in various shapes on its walls, contains five hundred cadet rifles and twenty-four twelve-pound howitzers. In its front are mounted great guns that but a short time ago hurled death and woe in the ranks of "our boys in blue"—guns kindly furnished by neutral England, for a consideration, to our sisters of the South. A little beyond these stands a cigar-shaped torpedo boat, perfect in all its parts, which is capable of being propelled for a considerable distance under water.

THE STORE-KEEPER'S DEPARTMENT,

a rambling brick house, two stories high, has all the articles required by the students, such as clothing, bedding, toilet articles, books, stationary, etc. The storekeeper is a naval paymaster, who furnishes goods on a requisition, approved by the Superintendent, at cost plus five per cent to cover losses. This is independent of the Paymaster's Department, a building in another part of the ground, presided over by a higher digniary than the storekeeper. The combined departments employ ten officials of various grade and ranks.

THE GYMNASIUM,

formerly Fort Severn, is an immense building, nearly circular in shape, the lower part of stone, the upper of wood. Here are a multitude of appliances for developing muscle and promoting health. Prominent among them we notice dumb bells, Indian clubs, pulleys, boxing gloves, parallel, horizontal and perpendicular bars, ladders, rings, blocks, a trapeze, spring boards, and swings.

In the capacious gymnasium now are given the stated hops and balls. The former occur every alternate Saturday evening; the latter in December, January, and February (consisting of a masquerade ball, a grand ball by the graduating class, and a dress hop by the second class.) Rich taste is displayed in ornamenting this room for the festive dance. Flags of all nations are stretched overhead, or hang in drooping folds, or are arranged in delightful "spooney corners" that invite to ardent flirtation. Upon the walls are monograms and inscriptions in silver, purple and gold, breathing tenderest sertiment to woman. A rustic fountain in the centre sends up a thousand jets into the branches of mock trees that; shut it in, and thence descending fall upon the moss-covered rocks from whose crevices shoot up "fairest flowers of Eden's bloom."

The fencing department, pistol gallery, bowling alleys, and gas works are all in this portion of the yard (the north east;) each presenting attractions which I connot linger to point out in this brief article.

Running out from a point near the gas works is a long wharf, upon which are erected the

MARINE BARRACKS.

The marines, about one hundred in number, are under the command of a captain and three lieutenants. They have a dress parade every morning at 9 o'clock, and review and inspection every Monday at 10.30 A. M.

In this connection I take occasion to refer to the excellent composed of thirty musicians, which is required to play for an hour every morning and evening; also for drills, dress parades, hops, balls &c.

In the stream are, the frigate Santee, the sloop-of-war Dale, the monitor Tonawanda, the yacht America, and two or three steamers of small tonage, besides a large number of open boats, all of which are employed in the instruction of midshipmen. In addition to these crafts are the varying in number from one to five, according to the number of midshipmen in the school. They are put into commission in early spring and proceed to Annapolis, reaching there in about the last of May. As soon as the Academic year closes (June 5th) the midshipmen of the first and third classes are sent on board, and the vessels leave immediately for their summer cruise, sometimes extended to Europe, sometimes skirting the North American shore to Nova Scotia. They usually return the last of September, when the ships proceed to some navy yard and are put out of commission.

MAILLI.

Miscellaneous.

The Law of Kindness, or, The Old Woman's Rail-way Signal.

The most effectual working force in the world in which we live is the law of kindness. For it is the only moral force that operates with the same effect upon mankind, beastkind, and birdkind. From time immemorial, music has wonderfully affected all beings, reasoning or unreasoning, that have ears to hear. The prettiest idea and smile of ancient literature relate to Orpheous playing his lyre to animals listening in intoxicated silence to its strains. Well, kindness is the spontanious music of good-will to man and beast. And both listened to him with their hearts instead of their ears; and the hearts of both are affected by it in the same way, if not to the same degree. Volumes might be written filled with beautiful illustration of its effects upon both. The music of kindness has not only the power to charm, but to transform both the savage heart of man and beast; and on this harp the smallest figures in the world may play heaven's sweetest tunes on earth.

Some time ago we read of an incident that will serve as an illustration of this beautiful law. It was substantially to this effect: A poor, coars-featured old woman lived on the line of the Baltimore and Ohio Railway, where it passes through a wild, unpeopled district of Western Virginia. She was a widow, with only one daughter, living with her in a log hut, near a deep precipitous gorge, crossed by the railway bridge. Here she contrived to support themselves by raising and selling poultry and eggs, adding berries in their season and other little articles for the market. She had to make a long, weary walk of many miles to a town where she could sell her basket of produce. The railway passed by her cabin to this town: but the ride would cost too much of the profits of the small sales, so she trudged on generally to the market on foot. The conductor came finally to notice her walking by the line or between the rails; and, being a good natured, benevolent man, he would often give her a ride to and fro without charge. The engine men and brakemen were also good to the old woman, and felt they were not wronging the interest of the railway company by giving her these free rides. And soon an accident occured that proved that they were quite right in their view of the matter.

In the wild month of March, the rains descended and the mountains sent down their rolling, roaring torrents of melted snow and ice into this gorge near the old woman's hut. The flood rose with the darkness of the night, until she heard the crash of the railway bridge, as it swept from its butments, and dashed its broken timbers against the craggy sides of the precipice on either side. It was midnight. The rain fell in a flood, and the darkness was deep and howling with the storm. In another half-hour the express train would be due. What could she do to warn it against the awful destruction it was approaching? She had hardly a whole tallow candle in her house; and no light she could make of tallow or oil, if she had it, would live a moment in that tempest of wind and rain. Not a moment was to be lost; and her thought was equal to the moment. She cut the chord of her own beadstead, and shouldered the dry posts, side-pieces, and head piece. Her daughter followed her with their two wooden chairs. Up the steep embankment they climbed, and piled all their houshold furniture upon the line a few rods before the black, awful chasm, gurgling with the roaring flood. The distant rumbling of the train came upon them just as they had fired the well-dried combustibles. The pile blazed up into the night, throwing its red, swelling, booming light a long way up the track, in fifteen minutes it would begin to wane, and she could not revive it with green, wet wood. The thunder of the train grew louder. It was within five miles of the fire. Would they see it in time? They might not put on the brake soon enough. Awful thought! She tore her red flanel gown from her in a moment, and, tying it to the end of a stick, ran up the track, waving it in both hands, while her daughter swung ronnd her head a blazing chair post a lsttle before. The lives of a hundred unconscious passengers hung on the issue of the next minute. The ground trembled at the old woman's feet. The great, red eye of the engine burst upon her as it came round a curve. Like a huge sharp-sighted lion coming suddenly upon a fire, it sent forth a thrilling roar, that filled all the wild heights and ravines around. The train was at full speed; but the brakemen wrestled at their leverage with all the strength of desperation. The wheels ground along on the heated rails slower and slower, until the engine stopped at the decaying fire. It still blazed enough to show them the beetling edge of the black abyss into which the train and all its passengers would have been plunged, and into a death and destruction too horrible to think of, had it not been for the old woman's signal. They did not stop to thank her first for the deliverance. The conductor knelt down by the side of the engine; the engine-driver and the brakemen came and knelt down by him; all the passengers came and knelt down by him; and there, in the expiring light of the burnt out pile, in the rain and the wind, they thanked God for the salvation of their lives All in a line the kneelers and prayers sent up into the dark heavens such a midnight voice of thanksgiving as seldom, if ever ascended from the earth to Him who seeth in darkness as well as in secret.

Kindness is the music of good-will to men; and on this harp the smallest fingers may play heaven's sweetest tunes on earth.

Mr. Lincoln Decides on Emancipation.

Before reading the proclamation the President again said he felt the responsibility of the step he was taking, both to himself and the country. It had oppressed him, and not till all others and expedients failed had he come to the conclusion that this element, which was arbitrarily used against us, must be brought into the Union cause. Having reached the conclusion, his decision was fixed and unalterable. The act and all its responsiblities were his alone. He had prepared the paper which he was again about to read without advice or assistance—had pondered over it for weeks, and been more confirmed in the rectitude of the measure as time passed on. There had been moments when he felt awed and overwhelmed by the gravity and magnitude of the subject and of what might follow, but his way was now clear—he knew he was right. Among other things, he said in a subdued tone he had looked to a Higher Power for aid and direction. He had made a vow that if God gave us the victory in the impending battle he would receive it as an indication of the Divine Will that it was his duty to go farward in the work of emancipation. In a manner half apologetic, he said this might seem strange, but there were occasions when, uncertain how to proceed—when it was not clear to his mind what he should do—he had in this way submitted the disposal of a sublect to a Higher Power, and abided by what seemed the Supreme Will. Events at Sharpsburg had confirmed and strengthened his original purpose in regard to emancipation, and he had no hesitation in issuing this preliminary order; the States interested would decide for themselves as to its consumation.

This was not the only occasion when he manifested the peculiar faith or trait here exhibited. It was doubtless to be attributed in a great measure to the absence of early religions culture—a want of educational advantages in his youthful, frontier life. In the wilderness of Indiana fifty years ago there were few churches, and only an occasional wandering preacher furnished the sparse population with rude religious instruction. Although his early opportunities for religious improvement have been few, there was deep seated within him a feeling of dependence and trust in that Supreme Intelegence which rules and governs all.

Some general conversation followed the reading of the document, when the President handed it to the Secretary of State, with directions to publish it forthwith.—"The History of Emancipation," by the Hon. Gideon Wells, in December Galaxy.

The Wives of Great Men.

Robert Burns married a farm girl with whom he fell in love while they worked together in the plow field. He was irregular in his life, and committed the most serious mistakes in conducting his domestic affairs.

Milton married the daughter of a country squire, bnt lived with her only a short time. He was austere, exacting, a literary recluse; while she was a rosy, romping lass, that could not endure the restraint imposed upon her; so they separated. Subsequently, however, she returned, and they lived tolerably happy.

Queen Victoria and Prince Albert were cousins, and about the only example in the long line of English monarchs wherein the marital vows were sacredly observed and sincere affection existed.

Shakspeare loved and wedded a farmer's daughter. She proved faithful to her vows, but we could hardly say the same of the great bard himself. Like most of the great poets, he showed too little discrimination in bestowing his affections on the other sex.

Byron married Miss Milbank to get money to pay his debts. It turned out a bad shift.

Benjamin Franklin married the girl who stood in her father's door and laughed at him as he wandered through the streets of Philadelphia with a roll of bread under his arm, and his pockets filled with dirty cloths. She had occasion to be happy when she found herself the wife of such a good and great man.

Washington married a woman with two children. It is enough to say of her that she was worthy of him, and that they lived as married folk should live—in perfect harmony.

John Adams married the daughter of a Presbyterian minister. Her father objected, on account of John's being a lawyer; he had a bad opinion of the morals of his profession.

Thomas Jefferson married Mrs. Martha Skelton, a childless widow, but she brought him a large fortune in real estate. After the ceremony she mounted the horse behind him and they rode home together. It was late in the evening and they found the fire out. But the great statesman hurried about and rebuilt it, while she seized the broom and soon put things in order. It is needless to say that they were happy, though Jefferson died a poor man on account of his extreme liberality and hospitality.

John Howard, the great philanthropist, married his nurse. She was altogether beneath him in social life and intellectual capacity, and besides this she was 52 years old, while he was but twenty-five. He would not take "no" for an answer, and they were married and lived happily together until her death, which oocured about two years afterwards.

Peter the Great, of Prussia, married a peasant girl. She made an excellent wife and sage empress.

Humboldt married a poor girl because he loved her. Of course they were happy.

It is not generally known that Andrew Jackson married a lady whose husband was still living. She was an uneducated, but amiable woman, and was most devotedly attached to the old warrior.

John C Calhoun married his cousin, and their children fortunately were neither diseased or idiotic, but they do not evince the talent of the great "State Rights" advocate.

Edward Lytton Bulwer, the English statesman and novelist, married a girl much his inferior in position, and got a shrew for a wife. She is now insane.

Seven thousand additions to the Baptist Church in North Carolina. Over $15.000 have been collected.

Anecdotes of Chief-Justice Marshall.

Judge Marshall's simplicity of character and absent-mindedness have been the theme of a number of anecdotes. The one best known is about his puzzle over the buggy and the sapling. Turning aside one day to avoid one of those awful mudholes which abound in Virginia country-roads, the axle of his buggy encountered a stout sapling. The sapling was between the hub of the wheel and the body of the buggy. Too big to bend down and too supple to break, this sapling seemed to the judge to be wholly unconquerable. What to do he knew not. He got down out of the buggy the better to apply his great intellect to the knotty subject and to study it thoroughly up. While pondering vainly, a negro man came along.

"Uncle," said the chief-justice, "I wish you would tell me about this sapling. I can't get over it, and I can't get around it, and I don't want to stay here all day and miss court. What do you think I had better do?"

The negro could not repress a broad but silent grin. "Why, ole marster," said he, "I 'spec' de bes' thing you kin do is to back yo' buggy twill you git clar of de saplin', den turn de hade (head) of yo' hoss, and den you kin 'void de saplin' and go to cote slick as goose-greese."

"Thank you—thank you kindly, uncle, I should never have thought of that in the world. You are a man of superior mind. There's half a dollar for you." And the judge drove joyfully off.

Another anecdote, illustrating the same simplemindedness and easy good-nature, has, so far as I am aware, never been in print. It is this: When judge Marshall lived in Richmond, his opposite neighbor was Colonel Pickett, father of the Confederate general George E. Pickett, of Gettysburg fame. Colonel Pickett was a man of wealth, lived well, and was not content unless everything about his honschold bore the marks of good living. His horses were his pride, and were conspicuous everywhere for their splendid appearance, being as sleek, fat, and high-spirited as abundant food and excellent grooming could make them. Judge Marshall's horses, on the other hand, were notoriously lean and unkept. Everybody but the judge had long remarked this. At last it was brought to his notice, with the suggestion that his carriage-driver neglected the horses, sold much of their food, and appropriated the money to his own use, a good deal of it going, no doubt, for liquor.

The judge called him up without delay: "Dick, what is the reason Colonel Pickett's horses are in such splendid condition, while mine are almost skeletons? I am afraid you neglect them, don't half curry them, and don't half feed them."

Dick, not expecting the attack, was fairly posed. He hemmed and hawed awhile till he could gather his negro wits about him, and then said: "Mars John, look at you—is you fat?"

"No," said the judge—"decidedly not."

"Well, look at old miss" (Mrs. Marshall)—"is she fat?"

"No."

"Den look at me—is I fat?"

"No."

"Den look at yo' horses—is dey fat?"

"No."

"Now den, you jes' look at Kunnle Pickett. He fat, his ca'idge driver fat, his horses fat his dogs fat—all fat. De troof is, Mars John, fat runs in the Pickett family and it don't run in our'n. Dat's all."

"Well," said the judge, after a little reflection, "there is a good deal in that. It never occurred to me before." He turned back into his study, and Dick was never troubled any more.—From Our Monthly Gossip, in the December number of Lippincott's Magazine

The Churches and the Indian Problem.

General Grant is the first President who has attacked this terrible problem with any personal knowledge of its difficulties, or with any adequate appreciation of the true principles involved in its solution. Thwarted at every step by the horde of hucksters and speculators on the frontier, still his policy has attained a success which no one could have dared to hope. We are bound, however, to say that it has not received the support which it deserved in the very quarters where one would have said there would have been most eagerness to carry it forward.

To avoid the difficulties attendant upon all appointments to office before the Civil Service Reform, the President propos

THE HOUSEHOLD FIRE.

To day as we write—it is the 29th of November—there is a cold snow storm raging. It is the first of the season, and early for this climate. November goes out frowning with leaden skies, preparing the way for the ushering of the first month of Winter. The leaves have faded and are falling silently from the trees now stripped of their bright robes and in the whistling air we hear the frigid music old Boreas so delights in. The patient earth looks gray and worn, as if spent with the labors of the year, and restfully awaiting the sleep the colder season induces. The garden has lost its charms and no longer invites the twilight stroll. The fruit is gathered in, the flowers are faded, the shrubbery is naked and withered. In all external nature there is something of that melancholly which ever attends the passing away of beautiful and familiar things. The shadow of night falls early on the saddened face of day, and in the sky overhead dim shapes and cloudy forms go drifting by.

As the pleasant, exciting season of out door life has passed, we turn instinctively to the more quiet joys of home. Each season brings its own pleasures, and after the exhilarations of Summertime there is calm enjoyment in gathering again about the evening lamp and—we were about to add the household hearth. For the moment we were thinking of the wide mouthed chimneys and open fires of our boyhood. We well remember them, how the flickering light of the fire, in the twilight hour, fell upon the bright andirons and chased the shadows into the far corners of the room. But then we do not forget they had their chilly side as well as cheery one. In the march of improvement the stove has become the household centre and it has added to the increase of comfort. It is economic in fuel, diffuses an even temperature, and on a cold night makes the home circle the most attractive spot on earth.

After all our Winter season becomes a blessing in disguise. It knits the family together, in the long evening hours spent around the household fire, and lays the foundation of that stability of character on which alone national prosperity as well as individual happiness can be built.

AN ITEM FOR IMMIGRANTS TO CONSIDER.

The great corn counties of the West are complaining that the price of transportation renders their splendid crops of this year unavaliable to market. It shows a hitch in our civilization that corn should sell in the eastern cities at $1 per bushel, while the farmers in Illinois gets but fifteen cts. at the crib. This is another illustration of the folly of long transpotation to raw material. When it requires the price of four or five bushels to get one to market, it is evident that there is a discrepancy between supply and demand which should be regulated by the introduction of more healthful conditions. In the first place the farmer should put his corn into pork and beef and thus give it a higher value. In the second place the extension of manufacturing industry should give a market for farm products, enabling the farmers also to raise greater quantities of the more perishable products that will not bear transportation. The diversification of general industry will thus lead to the diversification of each one of its branches. It is this that renders the industry of Massachusetts so powerful, and self-sustaining, even her poor soil is made to yield astonishing values under an inteligent system of culture, stimulated by a grand home market. What would the vast agricultural resources of the West show under the same conditions?

The South has, and for a long time will contiuue to have a great advantage over the West in its better facilities for cheap transportation to market. While in the West it costs the price of four bushels to ship one to market, here it does not cost the price of one fifth of a bushel to send it to New York, Baltimore or Philadelphia. This is an important item for the Northern and Eastern Immigrant to consider.

NOW.

That North Carolina has a "future" before her there can be no question. Whether it shall be for good or evil, for progress or retrogression depends upon the people. It is in our power to place our State in line with her more powerful and more prosperous sisters. Let us, irrespective of party, go to work and see that it is done.

The prospects for peace and prosperity were never so great. In the grand advancement, where are we to stand? Will we lag and waite, or will we rise up and utilize the advantages and agencies possible for us to command? We need railroads, and bridges and factories. We want capital and immigration to come in and locate among us and become identified in interest and feeling with us. We have room, ample room for a million more people. Let them come, men with families and a moderate capital; for they are needed. They can better themselves and they can help us to improve and develope this great State. We have near twenty millions of acres of unimproved lands waiting for the hands of inteligen labor—lands yet to be the homes of a teeming population. These lands are fertile and they are cheap. Now is the time to purchase. Now is the time to locate. We repeat Now is the time for both. Now!

THE DEATH OF HORACE GREELEY.

HORACE GREELEY died on Friday evening last. The anxiety of the late canvass, the recent loss of his wife, and his overwhelming defeat proved too much for his sensitive nature. A disease called Insomania followed: he rapidly grew worse until death closed the scene. His age was 61 years 9 months and 27 days.

Thus has passed away another of the great intellects of this age. HORACE GREELEY was the founder and editor of the Tribune, and as a journalist he had no superior in this country. His name is indelibly written upon the pages of the nations history. He had his faults, and who has not? but his life was a busy and a useful one, and he labored earnestly to advance what he conceived to be the best interests of humanity. To him is the cause of Liberty largely indebted for its grand victories, and long have the poor and the lowly of all lands known him as their advocate and friend. His faults, let us forget them; his virtues, let us try to emulate them.

THE SENATORIAL CONTEST.

The Senatorial struggle at Raleigh continues. The Democrats have hitched horns--the Greeleyites supporting VANCE as the regular nominee and the straight-outs voting for MERRIMON. The Republicans support Hon. JOHN POOL. It is said that VANCE supposes he holds a valid mortgage on the Senatorship, but the friends of MERRIMON, some twenty in number, have broken his slate and absolutely oppose him. The first ballot stood 78 for VANCE, 73 for POOL, and 18 for MERRIMON. The ballotings began on the 26th ult., and there has been one ballot each day since. On Saturday it stood 72 for VANCE, 58 for POOL, and 31 for MERRIMON, a number of Republicans voting for the latter.

——On Monday the names of VANCE and MERRIMON were withdrawn. It is said that Gen. SCALES is talked of.

New York is agitated concerning the fate of three individuals who have mysteriously disappeared. GEO. N. PERRY, recently an Insurance Agent from Louisville, Ky., walked out of the St. Nicholas Hotel about ten days ago with $5,000, in his pocket and has not since been heard of; E. J. VAN DORN, an advertising agent of the World, has been missing since the 8th of November, and a Brooklyn school boy named ELMER BROWN cannot be found. It is stated that since last August fifty two persons have mysteriously disappeared in New York.

The Raleigh News thus compliments Mr. BRYAN of Alleghany:

Mr. Bryan, of Alleghany, by his bold and manly speech in opposition to the taxing of dogs yesterday in the House, has endeared himself to every coon, possum, fox, deer and bear hunter in the State. We propose in a few days to give his speech in full—in the meantime we advise our fellow-field sportsmen to name the first of their next favorite issue "Bryan."

The death of Mr. GREELEY raises the question as to whom the electoral votes elected for him should be cast in the Electal College. The Tribune suggests that they be given to GRANT: the World advises that they be blank, and other Democratic papers are divided. The question has never risen before.

North Carolina is one of the best of all the Southern States. It has a genial climate and good lands at reasonable prices. Northern people seeking a milder climate should look this way for they can find a pleasant home here if they wish it. Many have already located here. Many more will do so.

The legal election Board of Louisana have exposed Gov. WARMOUTH's rascality, and find by an actual count of the votes that GRANT carries the State, KELLOG is elected Governor, and a Republican majority secured in the legislature.

Brigadier General IRVIN MCDOWELL has been appointed to the Major Generalship of the Regular Army vacated by the death of Gen. MEADE.

Prof. KERR, State Geologist, reports that he has in his possession a diamond valued at $75 which was found in the Western part of this State.

We go to press too early for the President's Message. Will give a full synopsis in our next issue.

The Troy Press tells of a man named Croft, who walked one hundred and twenty-five miles is one hundred consecutive hours, and who wanted to bet, at the finish, that he could walk five miles further. This is not a feat to brag of, since Weston has repeatedly walked one hundred miles in less than twenty-four consecutive hours. Croft will have to try again—that is, if fame is his object.

New Books, Periodicals, &c.

In the December Atlantic Mr. J. A. Coleman under the caption of "The Fight of Man with a Railroad." tells the story of his troubles with the New York and New Haven Railroad. He entered the passenger coach, tendering an unused coupon in payment of his transpotation. The conductor refused to receive this coupon, and had Mr. Coleman thrown from the car. He sustained severe injuries through this barbarous treatment, and he commenced legal proceedings againts the company, determining to make it a test case. He stubbornly fought the company in the courts for four years, and finally achieved a victory from which there was no appeal. He tells his story in strong, terse language and we are confident that the great traveling community will echo his sentiments. The arrogance of railroad officials must be rebuked. The people have given them valuable franchises, and yet they treat the people in about the fashion that the Oriental despot treats his slave. After reviewing the question at length, Mr. Coleman concludes that we stand in need of a general railroad law which should cover the following points: "First, that the fares shall be uniform and at reasonable rates, say two cents a mile. If it is necessary for a new road to receive a higher rate until it shall be upon a paying basis, allow it an excess, and limit the time during which an excess shall be charged, or else pay the road a subsidy from the State funds, upon the principle on which poor post routes are maintained, keeping the rates low, and inducing thereby an influx of settlers, who will eventually support the road." Second, when a first-class passage shall be given in a comfortable car, with such appointments as the law shall specify, polite and kind treatment to be required from employees, and the comfort and convenience of passengers to be assured, as well as the safety of life and limb. When a person is taken in charge by a railroad, he must be delivered in as good order at the end of the journey, undamaged in feelings and person, as he was received. Third, when a dollar is received for travel from a passenger, the equivalent of that dollar shall be returned in travel; not according to the caprice of the company, but according to equity and justice, and the reasonable demand of the passenger. Fourth, in all cases of disagreement or wrong doing, the road shall be compelled to confine itself to the same peaceful means of redress as an individual, and cause arrests only by regular authority appointed by law, unless offender be guilty of absence or indecent conduct in the car, or commits a trespass upon life and property. The present mediæval system of barbarity in the summary treatment of passengers must give place to something in accordance with the enlightenment of the nineteenth century. The railroad companies must be made aware that the traveling public is not composed of cattle or sheep; nor are they in any sense the natural prey of the company, but human beings, entitled to consideration as such. The American people are a long-suffering race. But let the corporations who are presuming upon their good nature reflect that they are sowing the wind, and the mutterings of a storm are beginning to be heard that betoken that they will one day reap the whilwind.', Charles Akers writes an essay on "Common Ornament," J. W. De Forest sketches "An Inspired Lobbyest." and Dr. Homles concludes his charming serial, "The Poet at the Breakfast Table."

OUR YOUNG FOLKS for 1873 promises a new serial by Mr. Trowbridge, entitled "Doing his Best." It will be complete in itself, but will continue the story of "Jack Hazard," which began in the volume for 1871, and was extended through 1872 in the serial entidled "A Chance for Himself." It is no braggadocio, but the simple truth, that both the stories already published have been in the best sense popular with the readers of "Our Young Folks," and have engaged the eager attention of many adults by the genuine interest of the narratives, their truth to nature, and the healthy atmosphere that pervades them. The Magazine will contain stories of peculiar interest to girls; sketches of travel and picturesque scenes in foreign countries, fully illustrated; historical and biographical sketches of persons whose careers furnish at once varied interest and noble examples; popular articles on the photograph, telegraph, astronomy, electricity, and papers of curious interest in natural history. The special departments of "Our Young Contributors," "The Evening Lamp," and "Our Letter Box" promise to continue the fresh and diversified entertainment they have hitherto afforded.

ARTHUR'S HOME MAGAZINE.—The publishers of this favorite magazine close the present year with a number of rare excellence. It contains the opening chapters of a new serial by Edward Garrett, entitled "Crooked Places; A Story of Struggles and Hopes." A "new departure" for the coming year is announced The "Home" is to take a higher rank among American periodicals. It is to be enlarged and illustrated. Every subscriber will receive, besides the magazine a copy of a large steel engraving entitled "The Chrtstian Graces," said to be the rarest and most beautiful picture in the line of Christian art that has appeared for a long time. Miss Pipsissiway Potts, whose "Other People's Windows" have been so large an attraction in the Home Magazine for the past two years, will commence a new series of papers with the opening year. T. S. Author, Miss Virginia F. Townsend, Rossella Rice, and other favorite writers will give their best efforts to the magazine, which promises to be one of the most attractive in the country. Published by T. S. Authur & Son, Philadelphia. Price $2.50 a year.

CORRESPONDENCE

Our Washington Letter.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 28, 1872.

The effects of the Campaign—Policy of of Congress and the Administration—The acquisition of New territory—Department of Agriculture—Educational.

During the past six months the public mind has been so absorbed with politics in connection with the canvass, the meeting of Congress was of little consequence. Since the election, however, the many important bills and measures before it, is attracting the attentian of everyone here, who are at all interested in the nation's legislation. The city is being rapidly filled with Congressmen, their assistants and hangers-on. Every one you meet almost, inquires what will be the policy of Congress and the Admiuistration. Civil service, universal amnesty and the pardoning of Ku Klux convicts, the acquisition of territory—Canada, Cuba, San Domingo, and Mexico, are the most talked of—Members, with whom your correspoddent has had an opportunity of interviewing, seem ignorant of what will likely be done.

No branch of the public service is making better use of limited means than the Department of Agriculture, in spite of incompetence in its general management. Its different bureaux are managed by first class men. Mr. J. R. Dodge, the statistician, has for ten years so thoroughly studied the crops of the country that his calculations, especially in the case of cotton, are anxiously awaited by the commercial men of the country. Every month he overhauls reports from 1500 of the 2200 counties of the Union. Each county is represented by a local board of correspondents—one chief and three assisiants—who are intelligent farmers, prizing their confidential relations to the Department as a very high honor.

Not less able and scientific is the management of Prof. Glover, the Entomologist and Curator of the Museum. In addition to the function of studying the charcter and habits of destructive insects which annually cut down the profits of agriculture two or three hundred millions of dollars, he prepares and preserves in the museum permanent memorials of the agricultural productions of the country. For instance, the fruits and vegetables are copied in plaster and painted with such accurate skill as to demand some mental effort to assure the visitor that he is not looking upon the originals. Domestic and foreign grains, woods, poultry, fibres &c., are here exhibited in great profusion. America has the honor of originating this class of institutions which were devised by the inventive genius of Mr. Glover himself. It is worth while to visit Washington, just to see this museum. The Austrian Minister, a few days ago, was surprised and delighted with the plan and execution, having seen nothing of the sort in Europe. It is something to make an American feel proud of his country.

The Chemical department is ably manged and continually analysing soils, agricultural products, &c. An able Botanist is constantly studying the flora of our country. A gardener of admirable taste, directs the adornment of the grounds, which, during the summer season presents the most exquisite constructions of floral beauty. The Department distributes valuable seeds and cuttings, greatly elevating the standard of production in all parts of the country. The seed distribution should be reformed in some respect, yet with all its faults it has been of incalculable value to the country.

The influence of the Department is appreciated by the agricultural classes, among whom it finds its warmest friends.

President Elliot, of Harvard University writes to the Commissioner of Education that the loss of the University, by the fire in Boston, is the heaviest blow the college has ever suffered. There has been received already, however, the sum of $85,000 towards repairing this loss.

The total amount of the loss to the college as estimated by the city assessor was $562,000. The annual rents were $38,000, the tenants paying the taxes. It is hoped that the friends of learning, and particularly the alumni of the college, will respond in every way to enable the college to repair the damage, without, in any way, restricting its great work, or paralysing its professors or instructors by reducing their salaries. The Titusville Press says: We may soon look for "squalls." Old Probabilities is about to marry a Boston lady.

Harpers Weekly has an excellent bird's eye view of Boston, with the burned district distinctly defined.

There is a movement on foot to annex West Florida to Alabama, Middle Florida to Georgia, and make East Florida constitute a State.

One of Hartfords popular dry-goods merchants was asked the other day how he spent his evenings. His reply was, "At night I store my mind, and during the day I mind my store." He was alive at last accounts.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue decides that persons selling tobacco and cigars on railroad trains must confine such sales to the smoking car; that they cannot travel from car to car offering for sale tobacco and cigars without becoming peddlers under the terms of the statute, and the peddlers are forbidden to retail from broken packages.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has issued a circular to assessors throughout the country directing them to reduce the number of assistant assessors to the lowest number possible by the first of January next. By this order the services of at least three hundred assistants will be dispensed with, and a saving to the government of nearly $2,000 per day made.

We are informed that a true bill was found at the recent term of the U. S. Circuit Court held at Asheville, against Geo. W. Swepson, Jno. T. Deweese, W. Levi Love, Geo. W. Thomas, and several others, for conspiracy to defraud the Cherokee Indians and the U. S. Government of a large sum of money.

About one hundred and fifty bills were found against different parties for ku kluxing, illicit distilling and other offenses.—Era.

A DRUG STORE WORTH SEEING

To the Editor of the North Carolinian

During a recent visit to your little City I was among other things attracted by the new Drug Store of Dr. J. N. BUTT, No. 75 Road Street, and I cannot resist the impulse to ask your readers to call and see it, as it is not surpassed by any you will meet in the South, not in Baltimore will you find one more elegantly fitted up except its deficiency in gas lights which the Doctor hopes to supply soon. It is a two story brick building, 65 by 27 feet, with dwelling above. The lower story is divided into Dispensing Room, Office, Ware Room and Laboratory. The Store Room is very light. The front being entirely of plate glass, nine pieces 90 inches long, with two doors and one window, glass 56 x 90. The doors being double, shut one upon the other, and when open, as in summer, are folded back into a recess to the wall, making a straight line with the door and an elegant finish. The doors and flanges to the same being of plate glass, 90 inches long, does not impede the light open or shut. The floor is almost even with the pavement and is covered with a carpet of cocoa matting. There are two counters on either side, 12 feet long, beautifully white splendidly finished, and of good design with Italian marble tops. Their ends 8 feet from the doors, pass at right angle to the wall. On the right hand one is a Tennessee Marble Fountain, and on the other an Aquarium of Gold and other Fish. On either side between the door and corner, is a fine silver mounted walnut Show Case, 5 feet high, fastened to the wall a beautiful and attractive ornament to display Fancy Articles, and in the rear a Poison Case of the same kind. Three find silver mounted and one plate glass Prescription Case, with scroll and clock on top, and one fine balance scale adorn the counters. There are over 120 drawers which make a fine display, they are of sweet gum varnished, which is the prettiest wood that could be used. The shelves are supported on iron brackets, at the terminus of which, 3 feet from the ceiling, is a snow white cornice, interlined with two strips of gilt moulding. The wall and entire store is pure white except the drawers and when lighted presents a very imposing display.

Last but not least, is the "little jewel" of an office, which is so much needed by every business man. The Doctor is doing, as he tells us, an extensive and lucrative office practice. It is fitted up in fine style, with every modern necessity and examinations are made with as much privacy as in your own home. The Laboratory is not yet finished, but when done will be a very responsible part of the establishment. The Doctor keeps a large stock of gold pertaining to the Drug Trade. VISITOR.

A MAGNIFICENT PRIZE SURPASsing all previous offers. Each subscriber to Demorest's Monthly Magazine, at Three dollars a year, will be presented with a premium of Two Elegant Chromos, companion pictures of the two most desireable and popular subjects in America—the Falls of Niagra and Yosemite Falls. Size of pictures 10½ by 12½ inches. These elegant Chromos, copied from beautiful pictures painted from nature by one of the first artists in America, give the most popular views of those interesting and sublime objects, and are faithful reproductions of the originals. The Grand Old Nigra, with its immense body of water falling one hundred and sixty feet, sending up dense clouds of spray to reflect in brilliancy and beauty the vivid colors of the rainbow, is so clearly depicted that, in imagination, you hear its mighty roar The Yosemite, with iss lofty mountains towering to the silvery clouds, and its stupendous falls of sixteen hundred feet, impressing with its awful grandure, and filling the mind with wonder.

These two Chromos are the best pictures ever published for Ten Dollars, and will be sent, mounted and varnished, by mail, as a premium to each yearly Three Dollar to our Monthly Magazine.

New York Advertisements.

Local and Personal.

☞Court in Hertford this week.

☞Continuing to come—New goods at Fowlers.

☞Hon. G. W. BROOKS is at Raleigh, holding U. S. Circuit Court.

☞Dr. W. H. FULLER, of Towanda Pa., arrived on Saturday's Boat.

☞We hear of several new buildings about to be erected on Road Street.

☞A new name has been coined for the "hoss" disease. This time it is Nostrilitis!

☞Our market has been well supplied with Blue Fish this season. They have been plenty and cheap.

☞By calling at this office parties can be supplied with any or all the Magazines at Publishers rates.

☞Dr. D. T. KREBS has been re-appointed Physician of the Poor House for another year.

☞November went out cold and in a snow storm. December thus far has been mild and pleasant.

☞The Friends held their Quarterly Meeting at Belvidere last week. Several ministers from abroad were in attendance.

☞No IV of the excellent articles on the Naval Academy appears on our first page this week. Another will close the series.

☞We learn that several cases of Small Pox have occured in Windsor, Bertie county. How they originated is not known.

☞An unusual press of matter has crowded out the proceedings of the County Commissioners. They will appear in our next ssue.

☞Read the interesting report on our fourth page, of the proceedings of the Farmers Club of Belvidere. May the example be followed by others.

☞No man in business should ever write a business letter without his card at the head of his sheet of paper. It is a first class advertisement, and prevents numberless mistakes.

☞The little steam Mill is keeping up its reputation. It is making excellent flour and meal. Our young friend UNDERWOOD is proving to be a first class miller.

☞We take pleasure in calling attention to the Camden Academy advertised in this issue. Good institutions of this kind ought to be encouraged and sustained. They are needed.

☞Our friend L. N. is correct. The NORTH CAROLINIAN is no weather vane, vering with every puff of wind. It always labors to be just, and when it takes a position it stands immovable as a rock.

☞Thanksgiving day was observed in Elizabeth City. The accustomed services for the occasion were held in the various churches, and business as a general thing was suspended. On the streets everything was quiet and Sabbath like.

☞Rev. S. S. LAMBETH who has been the Pastor of the Methodist Church of this place for the past two years, has been transfered to Danville, Va. He is an able and eloquent preacher. His successor is Rev. GEO. E. BOOKER. A full list of the appointments for this year appears in another column.

☞To our Murfreesboro correspondent we reply: Before you ask a favor of a man consider three things. First, can you not avoid it? Second, can the one you apply to grant it? Third, would you, if your places were reversed, do for your friend what you ask him to do for yourself? It is well to think of this, as it may change the whole question.

☞We call attention to our new advertisements this week. It will be seen that business of all parties and in various sections appreciate the value of the NORTH CAROLINIAN as an advertising medium. Several gentlemen inform us that for awhile they were skeptical on this point, but experience has satisfied them that it pays to advertise.

☞A gentleman on renewing his subscription frankly writes us, saying:

"At first I hesitated about paying in advance, as judging from dear bought experience with the other papers started in Elizabeth City I had no idea you would continue over six months. I preferred paying the two dollars and fifty cents at the end of the year to running the risk of losing two dollars by advancing them. Now, being satisfied that your paper is a fixed institution—and long may it wave—I prefer saving the half dollar by payment in advance."

From the beginning we resolved to deal fairly and honestly—to make no promises we could not fulfil. We have never deviated from the rule laid down. And to day we have the proud consciousness of knowing that the reputation of the NORTH CAROLINIAN for integrity and consistency stands as high as any journal in the country.

☞We call special attention to the notice of the Hotel for sale at Edenton. We can speak from personal knowledge that the representations made are true.

☞Under the act of Congress incorporating a stock company to manage the Philadelphia Universal Exposition, it has been decided to raise $10,000,000 in shares of $10 each. After the close of the exposition the managers are to convert their property into cash and distribute it to stockholders pro rata. The National Banks and certain designated banking-houses are to collect this sum. Books are opened for subscription at the Banking House of the Manufacturing Loan and Trust Company here. The exposition buildings are to cover 50 acres.

☞An able city cotempory forcibly observes that you might nearly as well forget your churches, your academies and school-houses as to forget your local paper. It speaks to ten times the audience that your local minister does. It is read eagerly each week from begining to end. It reaches you all, and if it has a lower spirit and less wisdom than a sermon, it has a thousand times better chance at you. Laying, as it does, on every table, in almost every house, you owe it to yourselves to rally liberally to its support and exact from it as able, high-toned a character as you do from any educator in our midst. It is in no sence beneath notice and care—unless you yourself are beneath notice and care—for it is your representative. Indeed, in its character, it is the summation of the importance, interest and welfare of you all. It is the aggregate of your own consequence, and you cannot ignore it without miserably depreciating yourselves.

LOCAL PORT-FOLIO.

Gold—112½. Gone up—the "paper 'round the corner." Always get the worth of their money—those who subscribe for and advertise in the NORTH CAROLINIAN. A host in himself—an inn keeper. A popular loafer—a good baker. Never wiped away—unshed tears: Lives for a mean fellow—the man who lives for himself. An easy thing to make—mistakes. Paper for the roughs—sand paper. But a paper for the people—the NORTH CAROLINIAN.

Business Locals.

Oysters in every style at Fulmers Eating Saloon on Water Street. Also Cakes, Confectionaries, etc., always on hand.

Thanksgiving day has passed, and in addition to being thankful for health and prosperity, Lowenburg & Jacobs, of Norfolk Va., feel thankful to their North Carolina friends for their liberal patronage. They hope to receive a continuance of the same.

Dental Notice.

In order to attend to my increasing out door practice I will, from this date not be in my office on Tuesdays and Wednesdays. On all other days I may be found at my office.

Sewing Machines like all labor saving inventions are susceptible of improvement. And this has beeen accomplished. The Bliss Noisless Link Motion Lock Stitch Sewing Machine is certainly an improvement on all others, as by it the use and wear and tear of cams and cogs are entirely avoided. The link-motion is substituted—a simple and ingenious invention giving greater speed, more regularity in motion, less noise and adapting the motion for a greater range and variety of work. These machines are susceptible of a much greater perfection in adjusment, giving to the sowing parts perfect accuracy and time, which, being affected by the wearing parts, will not drop or miss stitches, but, on the contrary, is certain to make them perfectly true and even, drawing and locking each stitch exactly in the centre of the goods, laying it smooth and flat on the under as well as the upper surface, so that should the seam be cut or torn, it will not open nor ravel, but remain firm and durable.

Walter Scott, of this place, is Agent for these Machines. Go and examine them. Parties wishing to purchase are allowed the privilege of thorough testing before buying.

Legislature.

In the Senate the week has been occupied with introduction of bills and resolutions. A ballot for Senator has been had every day since the 26ult. The vote was as follows 25 for Z. B. Vance of Mecklenburg; 18 for John Pool of Pasquotank add 7 for A. S. Merrimon of Wake. The ballots have continued every day. The resolution concerning the removal of the disabilities of Hon. W. A. Graham, W. N. H. Smith, Burton Criage, and others, (heretofore named) imposed under the 14th, Amendment to the Constitution of the Unithd States. requesting Congress to remove the same was on motion of Harris (Rep.) amended by adding "and all others in the State laboring under ruch disabilities."

In the House most of the week has been taken up with the introduction of bills. One was passed in favor of Louisa Heath, instructing the Public Treasurer to pay her, or her regularly authorized agent, $1,500, being the sum due the late Hon. Robert R. Heath, former Judge of the Superior Court of Law of North Carolina, as his undrawn salary. A resolution raising a joint select committee to examine the returns of the election of Executive and State officers in August last, said commtttee to be empowered to send for persons and papers. The vote for Senator began on the 26 ult., and stand 55 for Pool, 53 for Vance and 11 for Merrimon. The balloting have been continued daily.

Congress.

Congress convened on Monday, and both Houses were organized. The Chaplains mentioned Mr. GREELEY in their prayers. The Message was received and read. The debt statement shows a decrease in the debt of one and one-eighth million; coin in the Treasury, sixty-nine and one-half million; currency ten and one-eighth million.

Andrew Jackson was publicly whipped at Padauch, Ky., and those who have been voting for him for the past thirty years say they will withdraw their support.

The Cincinati Times thinks Morton will be the Republican candidate for the Presidency in 1876.

Col. Donn Piatt's Washington Capital says: "The person so popularly known as 'Old Probabilities' is a young man about 30, and is quite good-looking, having a handsome figure, a fine face with a Roman nose and clear blue eyes; walks with a military bearing, and takes his glass of wine and joke at binner as if his nights were not given to thunder, lightning, wind and rain, like unto the dreadful witch in 'Macbeth.' his real name is Myer—General, and of the United States Army. He is well endowed in a charming wife and worldly goods, and has a house that is one of the most attractive in Washington."

A man at Port Henry, N. Y., is sorry that he betted on the election of Greeley. He wagered to eat a certain amount of crow meat if the philosopher should be defeated. Well, H. G. will not take up his residence in Washington, and his enthusiastic supporter has had to go through with a feast not at all palatable. To the voter's credit, be it said, he ate the crow with the true grit of a resolute man. But no sooner had he finished the meal than a strange sensation came over him. In plain language, he cast up his dinner. We venture to say that the next time this gentleman stipulates for crow, it will be for a bird of another color. He will drink it standing.

THE GREAT PICTORIAL ANNUAL.—Lippincott's United States Almanac for 1873 for distribution gratis throughout the United States, and all civilized countries of the Western Hemisphere is now published and ready for delivery, in the English German, French, Norwegian, Welsh, Swedish, Holland, Bohemian and Spanish languages, and all who wish to understand the true philosophy of health should read and ponder the valuable suggestions it contains. In addition to an admirable medical treatise on the causes, prevention and cure of a great variety of diseases it embraces a large amount of information interesting to the merchant, the mechanic, the miner, the farmer, the planter and the professional man; and the calculations have been made for such meridians and latitudes as are most suitable for actual use, and comprehensive NATIONAL CALENDER.

The nature, uses, and extraordinary sanitary, effects of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the staple tonic and alterative of more than half the Christian world, are fully set forth in its pages, which are also interspersed with pictorial illustrations valuable receipts for the household and farm, humorous anecdotes, and other instructive and amusing reading matter, original and selected. Among the Annuals to appear with the opening of the year, this will be one of the most useful and may be had for the asking. The proprietors, Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, Pittsburgh, Pa., on receipt of a two cent stamp, will forward a copy by mail to any person who cannot procure one in his neighborhood. The Bitters are sold in every city town and village, and are extensively used throughout the entire civilized world.

Beware of Counterfeits!

JOB MOSES' SIR JAMES CLARKE'S FEMALE PILLS

are extensively COUNTERFEITED. Dishonest Druggists endeavor to sell the counterfeits to make greater profits. The genuine have the name of Job Moses on each package. All others are worthless imitations. The GENUINE Pills are unfailing in the cure of all those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject. They moderate all excesses and remove all obstructions from whatever cause.

TO MARRIED LADIES they are particularly suited. They will in a short time bring on the monthly period with regularity; and although very powerful, contain nothing hurtful to the constitution. In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, Pains in the Back and Limbs, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Hysterics and Whites, they will effect a cure when all other means have failed. The circular around each package give full directions and advice, or will be sent free to all writing for them, sealed from observation.

N.B.—In all cases where the GENUINE cannot be obtained, One Dollar enclosed to the Sole Proprietor, JOB MOSES, 18 Cortlandt St., New York, will insure a bottle of the genuine, containing Fifty Pills, by return mail, securely sealed from any knowledge of its contents.

RELIEF IN TEN MINUTES.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Dr. Tutt's Pills.

It is purely vegetable concentration for keeping the Bowels in natural motion and cleansing the system of all impurities and a positive cure for Constipation. They restore the fluid Liver, Stomach, and Kidneys to a healthful action, while at the same time they brace and invigorate the whole system.

Dr. W. H. Tutt: FOXE GA., January 11th, 1871.

Dear Sir:—Having used your Liver Pills and finding none that have done me wife or myself as much good, I would like to know if they would do as well North as here. I intend going North in March, and if they will have the same effect in colder climate I want to take them on with me. Hoping to hear from you soon.

I remain your obedt servt.

A LARGE AND VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE.

The subscriber desiring to lessen his farming operations, offers for sale privately until the 17th December next, and if not sold at that time, at public auction on the premises at 12 o'clock M. that valunble and productive plantation, a part of the far-famed "Turkey Ridge Body" known as the Whedbee place, containing by estimate One Thousand and Ninety acres. This farm is one of the most productive in North Carolina, and in the hands of an enterprising and industrious farmer could be made a most profitable and paying investment. It is beautifully adapted to all the crops of this climate, corn, wheat, oats, cotton, peas, potatoes, fruits, clover and the grasses generally. It is convenient to navigation, the main barn which is nearly in the centre of the farm being only two and a half miles from a landing on Perquima River. The bridlings are in good, order, and there is a sufficiency for eight or ten families to be comfortable, with an abundance of fire wood and rail timber. The fences and ditches are in complete order, nearly every ditch on the premises either having been trimmed and cut out this fall, or now being done so. In addition to the open land, there is a large Deadening of One Hundred and Fifty acres ready to come into cultivation, and in quality not to be surpassed by any in the State. The owner who resides about five miles below it in Durants Neck will take pleasure in showing it and pointing out its advantages to any parties who may desire to examine it until the day of sale.

TERMS. Three Thousand Dollars Cash and, the remainder in equal installments of one; two three and four years with interest at 8 per cent., and the title retained until the money is paid.

After the sale will be offered Twenty (20) mules and horses besides cattle, hogs, farming otensels, corn, fodder, &c. Terms made known un day of sale.

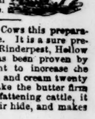
FOUTZ'S
CELEBRATED
Horse and Cattle Powders.

This preparation, long and favorably known, will thoroughly re-invigorate broken down and low spirited horses, by strengthening and cleansing the stomach and intestines.

It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to this animal, such as LUNG FEVER, GLANDERS, YELLOW WATER, HEAVES, COUGHS, DISTEMPER, FEVERS, FOUNDER, LOSS OF APPETITE AND VITAL ENERGY, &c. Its use improves the wind, increases the appetite—gives a smooth and glossy skin—and in fact forms a most complete skeleton of a first class and spirited horse.



To keepers of Cows this preparation is invaluable. It is a sure preventive against Rinderpest, Hollow Horn, etc. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk and cream twenty per cent. and make the butter firm and sweet. In fattening cattle, it gives them an appetite, loosens their hide, and makes them thrive much faster.

In all diseases of Swine, such as Coughs, Ulcers in the Lungs, Liver, &c., this article acts as a specific. By putting from one-half a paper to a paper in a barrel of swill the above diseases will be eradicated or entirely prevented. If given in time, a certain preventive and cure for the Hog Cholera.

Written for the NORTH CAROLINIAN.

The Farmers Club at Belvidere.

BELVIDERE N. C.
Nov. 22nd, 1872.

To the Editor of the North Carolinian:

We thought that it might be interesting to some of your readers to learn of a successful movement that has been made in our Township. The fact referred to, is the organization of a Farmers Club. We have a wide-awake Club, which is already we beleive doing a good work. Farmers as a class are thinking men, and, being from the nature of their calling practical thinkers, the accumulated thought and experience of years become valuable. But if a farmers situation leads to thought, it is also apt to lead to silence. Contrary to the worlds maxim he thinks much and says little. Too often the farmer forgets that his knowledge may be valuable to others; too often he forgets that he may profit by the experience of others, and when night comes he is apt to tumble into bed hardly wanting to pull off his boots.

Thinking of these things, some of our working men began to consider, if we could not be of mutual benefit to one another in our Agricultural meeting. The thought soon ripened into action, and, organizing ourselves under a constitution the Farmers Club became an actual fact.

At our last meeting, after the receiving of 13 new members, two questions were brought forward for discussion. The first was, the proper treatment of milch cows during winter.

The speaker who opened the subject said, that we do not exercise care enough in sheltering and feeding our milk-stock, they are allowed to get wet and chilled, which ought not to be. Farmers are apt to forget an important fact; that the stock should be fed. Rutabagas, pumpkins and steamed food are excellent. Wheat-bran also, a little salted and soaked, is good for milch cows. Bad milking is a detriment. Cows, he said, should be milked two or three times a day.

Another spoke of cows being injured by abuse. He had found mild treatment to result in more milk. Regular times and places for milking, were also important considerations. He told of milking a cow, from which 7lbs of butter per week had been made. The feed was turnips and clover.

A third spoke of the economy of sheltering cows and keeping them warm during the winter. Much food is expended in keeping up animal heat that ought to go towards making milk and butter.

The fourth speaker urged the necessity of improving our stock. He spoke of a woman in the neighborhood who had been very sucessful with milk-stock; she had fed with corn meal and shucks stripped and soaked and salted a little. The pea patch in its season, and peas soaked or ground were recommended.

After a few more general remarks, the second question was introduced

"The best method of putting up sweet potatoes." The member who introduced this subject said potatoes should not be dug before they are thoroughly ripe, but they should not remain in the ground until the vines are killed by frost Care should be taken in handling them, that they are not bruised or skinned. In putting up potatoes (in hills) they should not be covered so deep as to cause them to heat before cold weather sets in. His method, which has been successful is, to cover with pine straw and dirt upon the straw, with an air hole at the top of the hills; well sheltered and keep dry.

Anothers experience was, that potatoes should be dug as soon as the leaves are crisped by frost. That in covering the hill, plenty of pine straw should be used, and bark or seasoned boards over the straw, to prevent the potatoes from tasting earthy.

A third cited as a successful method, after covering with plenty of pine straw to heap up the earth gradually as the weather grows colder. He thought best, not to seperate slips from the vine, bu, put them up in bunches. By keeping them connected with a porfion of the vine, the slip obtains nourishment longer and the shrinking is more gradual. Dry sand he found beneficial sprinkled amongst slips or potatoes, using a peck of sand to two bushels of potatoes.

This discussion was followed by the reading of an article upon the treatment of the horse disease now prevaling.

A good deal of interest was manifest throughout the meeting, and so much real enjoyment was experienced, and that of a profitable kind, that the meeting decided to send some account of its proceeding to the NORTH CAROLINIAN for publication. The hope that some of our surrounding Townships, will arouse their latent energies, and in this regard go and do likewise, that we may unite our efforts for the advancement of agriculture, by establishing County Clubs and fostering the State Agricultural Society.

FARMER.

EARTH POULTICES.—The value of earth as a disinfectant and deoderizer is well known; and the treatment of ulcerated sores and gangrenous wounds with it is becoming very general. A new application of this system has lately been described, namely, the use of clay as a dressing for the face in two cases of confluent small-pox—dusting it, in fine powder, over the faces of the patients as the postules become fairly developed. This, it is stated, formed a clean, dry, wholesome scab, absorbing the infectious material, scaling off, during convalescence, and leaving the underlying skin in its natural and normal state. The painful and persistent itching, which is well known as one of the worst characteristics of the disease, was by this simple means entirely abated. The earth used was fine pipe clay.

CURE FOR A COLD.—A hot lemonade is one of the best remedies for a cold It acts promptly and efficiently, and has no unpleasant after effects. One lemon should be properly squeezed, cut in slices, put with sugar, and covered with half a pint of boiling water. Drink just before going to bed, and do not expose yourself the following day. This remedy will ward off an attack of chills and fever if used promptly.

Some Main farmers held their last year's crop a little too long, and when new potatoes appeared in the market, they sold the old stock, hundreds of barrels, for 5 cents a bushel.

Col. S. D. Harris wrote to Moor's Rural that "the hay crop of Vermont and New Hampshire is immense, following two years of grouth with plentiful rains, which help up just in time."

Terre Haute woman's pet puppy recently swallowed a diamond ring on her finger while she was feeding him. He was considerably "cut up" about it soon afterward.

SOUTHERN CLAIMS

AGAINST

THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT.

Loyal citizens of North Carolina and other Southern States, will be pleased to learn that Congress at the last session passed a law for a commission to be appointed to examine and report on all claims that may be presented to them for Quartermaster and Commissary stores furnished the Federal Army during the late war.

The undersigned are prepared to furnish blanks, and give all information to those having claims—and to prosecutel the same to final settlement. Having received the endorsement for ability, &c., from the Hon. Senators Messrs. Pool and Abbott and the Representatives from North Carolina—we bleieve that we can give satisfaction to all who entrust their claims to us.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE.

OF VALUABLE

NORTH CAROLINA LANDS,

FOR SALE BY

GEORGE D. POOL.

Real Estate Agent,

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C.

In presenting my list of lands and other properties for sale, I would say that no section of the United States offers such inducements for capitalists and emigrants, as this section of North Carolina. In longevity and healthfulness, it will compare favorably with any where and in easy and cheap transportation of products to market, in pleasantness of climate, in the sociability of the people, in great fertility, and durability of soil, no section can equal it.

A railroad will soon be built to Weldon, putting this place in direct communication by Rail, with the whole United States. This, together with our great fishing, farming and manufacturing interests, and certain early completion of already projected works of improvement for putting in nearer, cheaper and easier communication with the Ocean, will render this one of the most important commercial, and manufacturing points on the Southern country.

A Steam Saw and Grist Mill in the town of Nixonton 8 miles from E. City. This Mill has a fine wharf and store attached on deep navigable water, the engine is 40 horse power, and all in good order. It is one of the finest locations to be found any where for custom work, and for getting good saw logs easily and cheaply. Price $4,000 cash.

Adjoining the mill property is 40 acres of fine land on the River, with three houses, all for $1200. Near the same is a good two story dwelling and 13 acres of land for $2.000, and a good one story dwelling, with one acre of land for $300.

Also two fine farms in Pasquotauk county, 10 miles from E. City, within half mile of church. school house and post office. One tract contains about 400 acres, with fair buildings and mostly cleared, and the other contains 300 acres, with good two story dwelling, large barn, and other outhouses, both are offered at $20 per acre, one third cash, balance in one and two years.

Also one other tract in Pasquotank county, containing 116 acres, within one mile of the town with fine buildings, mostly cleared and in cultivation. Price $25 per acre, one half cash, balance in 12 months.

A valuable site for a hotel at Nag's Head, 40 miles from Elizabeth City, and 50 miles from Edenton. This is situated immediately on the Ocean, and is a famous Summer resort for invalids, and those seeking health, comfort, and amusements during the summer months. It is in direct communication by steamboats and railroad with all parts of North Carolina, Virginia, and the North; and is equal in natural advantages to Newport, or Cape May. Visitors flock to this famous summer resort by hundreds and thousands, and a large amount of money can be made by a hotel. A charter has been obtained from the Legislature of N. C., for a joint stock company to build the hotel. There is now an old hotel on the spot, which could be cheaply repaired and bought for $3.000. This hotel, though imperfectly kept, cleared the proprietor last season, over $3.000. For a man or a company, having some capital, this is one of the finest chances to make money at hotel keeping to be found anywhere. The early attention of the public is invited to this property. Sold.

A fine steam saw and grist mill at Hertford, the county seat of Perquimans County, N. C., 18 miles from Elizabeth City. This mill has a fifty horse power engine, now in good running, two pairs of best French burr stones, and two upright saws. The house has a brick basement, and the building is large and in good order. There is one and a half acres of land belonging to this property, and a good two story dwelling, and other out-houses. The section of country adjacent abounds in the finest yellow pine, cypress, ash, poplar, and other valuable timber. This property originally cost $15.000, and is now offered at forced sale for the low price of $3.500, $7.00, cash, and the balance in six equal instalments, six months apart each with interest. Sold.

A fine farm and fishery in same county. The farm contains 400 acres of the finest land, lies immediatly on Albemarle Sound where the water is 12 miles wide, and 18 to 20 feet deep, has got buildings, and fine neighborhood. The fishery is on the farm and goes with it. It has a new seine 2,500 yards long, and all the necessary boats, buildings, &c., (which cost over $15,000 two years ago.) The fishery alone, of a good season, will make from 5 to $10,000 profit to the owner. This property is offered at forced sale for the low price of $20,000, $7,000 cash, balance on easy times.

A store at South Mills, in Camden county, 20 miles from E. City, and 20 miles from Norfolk, lying on the canal where steamers pass daily. A fine chance for merchandize. Store is large with dwelling above containing six rooms, is in first rate order, has office, kitchen, dairy, and other necessary outhouses. Goods to the amt. of $50,000 per annum can be sold here, and at large profits. A splended stand for a country retail store. Price $2,500—one third cash, balance in one and two years.

A valuable tract of land in Camden county, at South Mills, on the Dismal Swamp Canal, lying on the canal for two miles, containing over 900 acres of land—two-thirds cleared, and in a fine state of cultivation, with good buildings, &c.; balance in valuable timber. Price $12,000, one-third cash, balance in one and two years, interest from January, 1871. This is a valuable farm for corn, wheat, and vegetables, and being midway between Elizabeth City and Norfolk, and located where steamers pass by the door daily, is a desirable and cheap property.

A fine farm of 600 acres within six miles of E. City, one mile from navigable water, and the best cotton farm in the State. It is also well adapted to raising corn and wheat. This farm has a splendid two-story dwelling upon it, large barn, 40 by 60 feet, a large number of outhouses, by splended trees and shrubbery, is in a strong Union neighborhood, and altogether the most desirable place in the county. A little over one-half of this land is cleared, and the balance is covered with the finest yellow pine, poplar, ash and other timber. Price $30 per acre—one-third cash, balance in one and two years with interest. Title reserved.

Sixteen houses and lots in Elizabeth City, with good dwellings, out-houses, &c. Prices and terms reasonable.

A valuable farm in Perquimans county, N. C. near navigable water. Has a fine dwelling-house with ten rooms, in splended order, with splended barns and stables—all in first rate order. The farm is very productive in corn, oats, wheat, cotton and clover. It is one of the finest farms in the State and is now in good cultivation, contains 585 acres of land, about three-fourths cleared and under cultivation. Price $10,000, one-third cash January 1, next, balance in two equal annual instalments with interest at the rate of six per cent.

A farm of 370 acres 8 miles from town by water, and 12 miles by land, is offered for sale for $10,000 in easy payments. This tract of land lies immediately on the River which is 4 miles wide and washes the farm its whole length on one side, and a branch of the River one mile wide, binds it on one end. The land is well adapted to raising corn, wheat, cotton, oats, peas, &c., lies high and dry, and is susceptible of the highest improvement. Fronting and looking over, as it does, two large sheets of navigable water, where steamers and sailing vessels are constantly passing, carrying freight and passengers to all parts of the country, its location and surroundings, are of the most fascinating and desirable character. There is a fishery on it ready for working a seine 2,500 yards long, and which commands a portion of both streams of water, and can be made immensely profitable. The price charged is low, and the purchase a very desirable one. The buildings consist of a good two-story dwelling and out-houses. Sold.

A desirable house and lot in the town of Elizabeth City on the corner of two principal streets, the principal one, and situated in the best business locality in the town. The lot contains about two acres of land, and the buildings consist of a fair dwelling three stories high, containing eight rooms, all in good order, another two story building with four rooms and pantries, dairy, smokehouses, stables, &c. The dwelling has a good cellar under it. There is room on the front lot to erect two good stores, and they would occupy the best stand in the town for merchandize.

A Farm of 200 acres within one mile of Elizabeth City, with good two story dwelling, large barn and stables, and all necessary outhouses, orchard of fine fruit trees, and a large number of ornamental trees and shrubbery around dwelling. This farm is on one of the most public roads in the County—is in a high state of cultivation—has fine and durable fences, &c. Altogether, it is the richest land and most desirable location, anywhere in the neighborhood of the town. Price $6000—one-half cash, balance in easy payments.

KEYSTONE MILL COMPANY'S

PREPARED WHEAT

AND

SUGAR OF MILK.

Patented July 23d. 1872.

A FARINACEOUS FOOD FOR INVALIDS AND INFANTS.

By the peculiar process in which this preparation is made, all the flesh forming constituents—EARTHY and SALINE elements of the grain are retained, with none of the STARCH, all of which being converted into Dextrine. It contains all the Lime, Sulphur, Phosphorus, Iron and Manganese for the animal juices, and Gum and Fecula for respiration and fatty tissue, with the proteine compounds (Gluten, Albumen &c.) from which nerve and muscular tissues are formed.

It is believed by the most intelligent men that much of the suffering, sickness and mortality of mankind is traceable to deficient or faulty nutrition. The same cause may also be assigned the frequent disapointment of physicians in the result of the action of most approved remedies.

We feel sure that this article will supply the deficiency.

Sugar of Milk.

[LACTIN.]

Is a chrystalized sugar, obtained from the whey of cow's milk by evoporation. It is manufactured largely in Switzerland and the Bavarian Alps as an article of food and for medical purposes.

It has been used considerably in England as a non-nitrogenous article of diet in Consumption and other Pulmonary Diseases, and with excelent effect in extreme Irritability of the Stomach, (see Wood & Bache's Dispensatory.)

We manufacture 2 grades :—No. 1, in yellow wrapper, ground coarse, to be eaten as cracked wheat, with cream. No. 2, white wrapper, is ground into Flour for Puddings, Blanc-Mange and Bread.

DIRECTIONS.

For Making Mush with No. 1, Ground Coarce.—Mix four tablespoonfuls of the Wheat with a gill of cold water; rub into a smooth paste; then pour it into a pint of boiling water, stirring briskly, boil for 20 minutes. To be eaten with rich cream.

For Puddings, &c. use No. 2, Ground Fine.—Mix a tablespoonfnl of the food with a small quantity of cold water rub to a smooth paste; add to one-half pint of boiling water, constantly stirring, and boil about 8 minutes over a moderate fire. Add milk and flavor to taste. For bread, use as ordinary flour.

EXTRAORDINARY INDUCEMENTS TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS:

500 Pages for $1.00! &c., &c.

The Publishers of Scribner's Monthly, in their Prospectus just issued, promised for the ensuing year a more prilliant array of contributors, and an increase in the variety and beauty of its illustrations, already conceded by the critics to be "finer than any which have hitherto appeared in any American magazine."

Dr. HOLLAND, the Editor, will write the serial story of the year, which will be autobiographical in form, and will be illustrated by Miss Hallock. It is entitled ARTHUR BONICASTLE, and will deal with some of the most difficult problems of American Life. It will be commenced in the November Number.

There will be a new story by SAXE HOLM, THE ONE LEGGED DANCERS.

BRET HARTE, the best writer of short stories now living, will contribute a charcteristic intitled THE EPIC OF FIDDLETOWN, which will be illustrated by Sheppard.

R. H. STODDARD will write a series of entertainiog papers about AUTHORS, THEIR PERSONAL CHARACTERISTICS, HOME LIFE, FAMILIES, FRIENDS, WHIMS, AND WAYS. A series of PORTRAITS OF LIVING AMERICAN WRITERS, is also promised.

Clarance Cook will write about FURNITRE, AND THE DECORATION OF AMERICAN HOMES. These papers will be eminently practical as well as artistic, and will be illustrated with designs and sketches by nun erous artists in addition to those which the writer himself will furnish.

Among those who will contribute are:

Hans Andersen, Bryant, Bushell, Eggleston, Froude, Higginson, Bishop Hunlington Bret Hart, John Hay, H. H. McDonald, Mitchell, Miss Phelps, Stedman, Stockton, Stoddard, Cella Thaxter, Warner, Wilkinson, Mrs. Whitney, besides a host of others.

The editorial control and direction of the Magazine will remain in the hands of Dr. Holland, who will continue to write "THE TOPPICS OF THE TIME," which the N. Y. Independent says, "are more widely quoted than any similar papers in any American magazine."

Watson Gilder will write "THE OLD CABINET," as hitherto. Prof. John C. Draper conducts the Department of "NATURE AND SCIENCE." The department of "HOME AND SOCIEMY" and "CULTURE AND PROGRESS," will sngage the contriutions of more than a score of pens on both sides of the Atlantic. The Watchman and Reflectors says. "Scribner's Monthly for September is better than usual, which indicates a needles waste of editoual brdins and Publisher's money, for the Magazine was good enough before!" And yet the Publishers promise to make it still better for the coming year!!

The Subscription price is $4.00 a year, with special rates to Clergymen, Teachers, and Postmasters.
